Distance Education Foundations and Frameworks

Learning Objectives

In the last several years, the landscape of educational delivery models and methods has shifted significantly regarding the use of and reliance upon distance education and learning. With these changes and the surge of institutions entering the realm of distance education delivery—both hybrid and 100%—ACCSC has also seen institutions thrive and struggle. Given this experience, Dr. Michale McComis and Alicia DeMartini will share their experience and provide guidance on distance education delivery in the context of ACCSC accreditation standards.
